Why should you attend?

As metal casters strive to improve quality, productivity and cost efficiency, it pays to be informed about the latest advances in binder and refractory coating technology.

Metal casting practices are continuously being refined to take advantage of the latest improvements in core and mold making practices.

That's where we can help!

A comprehensive seminar that includes presentations by ASK Chemicals metal casting experts in binder and coating technology is available now. Come see all the products and services ASK Chemicals has to offer.

Who should attend?

Foundry managers and superintendents, core room supervisors and operators, mold line supervisors and operators and quality control professionals, should attend this seminar.
