

The OSU Religious Studies Roundtable Graduate Student Group presents:

Blood and Faith: Christianity in American White Nationalism

a book talk with author Damon Berry

Book Talk

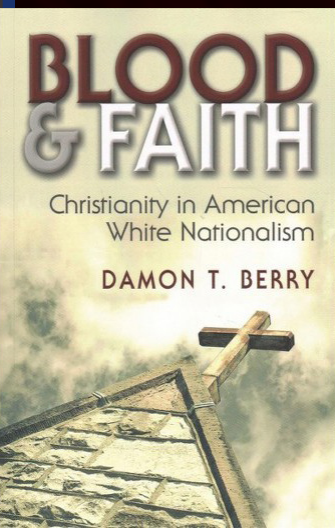

Wednesday, March 21, 2018
5:30 PM | Page Hall, Room 020

Lunch with Speaker

Thursday, March 22, 2018
1:30 PM | Hagerty Hall, Room 455

RSVP required, space limited
email dove.76@osu.edu

"A powerful, original, and extremely timely book. Tracing the history of white nationalism in the United States, Berry examines a series of hugely influential but today little known figures and movements, revealing their key role in the broader landscape of American religious, political, and racist discourses. Perhaps most importantly, Berry's book also highlights the continuities between these twentieth-century racist currents and our own historical moment, with the rise of the alt-right movement, and the resurgence of white nationalism." —Hugh Urban, Ohio State University

Event Co-sponsored by the Comparative Studies Graduate Student Group, and the Center for the Study of Religion

Admission is free and open to the public.
Parking is available at the Ohio Union south garage. For more information, call 614.688.8010 or visit go.osu.edu/BerryTalk

