

CENTER FOR FOLKLORE STUDIES

UNREQUITED:

THE PARADOX OF BLACK APPALACHIA

Kenton Butcher (English, Bucknell University) will explore how the Tablertown Museum in southeastern Ohio represents a community forged at the frequently unrecognized intersection of "Black" and "Appalachia" and reveal ongoing struggles with self-definition, cultural preservation and economic survival.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14

4 - 5:30 PM

165 THOMPSON LIBRARY

Free and open to the public

<https://cfs.osu.edu/events>