

Nowruz

Did you know you could learn Persian language and Culture at Ohio State? Check out nesa.osu.edu for more information.

Join us to mark the occasion of the Persian holiday, Nowruz, and enjoy the rich arts and cuisine of Persian culture. We are gathering a week after the actual holiday due to the academic calendar.

Date: Friday, March 27

Time: 11:00am - 12:30

Location: Intercultural Gallery, Hagerty Hall, 1775 College Rd S, Columbus, OH 43210

The haft-sin table's green sprouts, garlic, apples, vinegar, sumac, wheat pudding, mirror, candles, painted eggs, coins, flowers, and sometimes a “book of wisdom,” symbolize renewal, health, abundance, light, and reflection. With spring’s arrival, Nowruz reminds us of the cycles of light, growth, and connection that renew our spirits and our sense of community.

The Persian New Year

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Near Eastern and South Asian Languages and Cultures
Middle East Studies Center
Center for Slavic, East European and Eurasian Studies
mesc.osu.edu | mcclimans.2@osu.edu