

CALLING ALL BAT RESEARCHERS

Bat Conservation International is now accepting research funding proposals for the 2019 Student Research Scholarship for Global Bat Conservation Priorities.

Conservation oriented Masters and Ph.D. researchers can apply for financial support for projects in the following categories:

1. Effects of human-cause environmental change on bats
2. Understanding & resolving bat/human conflicts
3. Answering ecological & behavioral questions essential to the conservation of imperiled bat species

Additional award opportunities for applicants:

- Women in Conservation Science Honor awarded to an outstanding female student from a developing country.
- Verne & Marion Read Bat Conservation Honor awarded to a student who inspires education and community action to protect bats around the world.

Applications are open from October 1 to October 31, 2019.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, VISIT: BATCON.ORG/RFP

Photo by Richard Jackson

