presents

Project Based Learning in the Gifted Classroom

Hear from the gifted coordinator, GIS's and gifted students about how PBL has changed the gifted curriculum K-8 in Northmont City Schools. This workshop will be run like a PBL unit with plenty of time for collaboration, curriculum development, and advice from those in Northmont implementing PBL right now.

Northmont has been working with the Buck Institute for Education to train teachers in PBL instruction. The materials used to guide this workshop are from BIE.org, the premier institution for PBL.

At the end of this training, you will walk away with the start of a PBL unit. Bring ideas for A TEACHING UNIT or PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SESSION you would like to lead and see how PBL can help make that unit/session more effective and engaging.
