Making Fish Health a Priority

Presented by the Ohio Aquaculture Association, Ohio State University South Centers Aquaculture Boot Camp, and the USDA's North Central Regional Aquaculture Center. The day will consist of both formal presentations and hands-on experience covering topics on:

- Fish dissection and information all farmers should know to assess fish health
- Best management practices in fish health and biosecurity
- Disease prevention
- Stress management

The following speakers will be presenting:

- Dr. Kathleen Hartman, Aquaculture Program Leader for USDA-APHIS
- Dr. Mark Flint, Clinical - Assistant Professor in the College of Veterinary Medicine at OSU
- Dr. Stephen Reichley, Director of Fish Health at Clear Springs Foods in Buhl, Idaho
- Matthew Smith, OSU South Centers Aquaculture Extension Specialist

Don't miss this opportunity to engage with these experts, and gain a better understanding of how to keep your fish at their healthiest.

This event is supported by: a grant of Aquaculture Boot Camp (ABC) (No. 2016-70017-25377) from the USDA National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) awarded to Dr. Hanping Wang in The Ohio State University; and also a grant from USDA/NIFA through North Central Regional Aquaculture Center (No. 2014-38500-22138) awarded to Matthew Smith (OSU).
