

SATURDAY

DECEMBER 16, 2017

10:00 AM – 2:00 PM

AQUACULTURE / AQUAPONICS
COOPERATIVES EXPLORATORY MEETING

A must attend meeting for those serious about their business's success!

Description

As businesses that are owned and controlled by their users, cooperatives are unique in their structure and functions. Co-ops are best suited to fill the mutual needs of their members, which can include functions like joint marketing, purchasing, and providing services. Co-ops offer potential benefits like savings through economies of scale, access to new markets or services, and spreading risk. Participants in this exploratory meeting for an Ohio aquaculture cooperative(s) will learn more about the co-op business model and the co-op start-up process and will discuss the needs of Ohio producers and the potential for a co-op to meet those needs.

Facilitator

Ms. Hannah Scott
Program Manager
CFAES Center for Cooperatives, The Ohio State University

Can We Do Something Better As A Group Than You Can Individually?

RSVP Required!

RSVP Deadline

December 13, 2017

RSVP to:

blmillperch@gmail.com

Cost: $0

Lunch Provided By

Ohio Soybean Council

LOCATION

Millcreek TWP Hall
10420 Watkins Rd.
Marysville, OH 43040

Just NW of Columbus
Union County, OH