Making Fish Health a Priority

Presented by the Ohio Aquaculture Association, the Ohio State University South Centers Aquaculture Boot Camp, and the USDA's North Central Regional Aquaculture Center. The day will consist of both formal presentations and hands-on experience, including a necropsy session covering topics on:

- Fish dissection and information all farmers should know to assess fish health
- Best management practices in fish health
- Disease prevention
- Stress management

This event will be similar to, but build on, the Fish Health workshop held last fall. The following speakers will be presenting:

- Dr. Kathleen Hartman, Aquaculture Program Leader for USDA-APHIS
- Dr. Mark Flint, Clinical – Assistant Professor in the College of Veterinary Medicine at OSU
- Dr. Stephen Reichley, Director of Fish Health at Clear Springs Foods in Buhl, Idaho
- Matthew Smith, OSU South Centers Aquaculture Extension Specialist

This workshop is supported by a grant of Aquaculture Boot Camp (ABC)(No. 2016-70017-25377) from the USDA National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) awarded to Dr. Hanping Wang at The Ohio State University.
